

The Daily Courant.

Saturday, April 8. 1704.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated March 27.

Milan, March 8.

THE Imperialists continue their Incursions into the Novarois, the Lomelline, and the Mantuan Montferrat, with strong Parties of Horse; and commit great Disorders in the places that will not agree to pay them the Contributions they demand. The Duke of Vendome continues at Casal, and has given Direction for repairing and strengthening the Fortifications of that Place, with utmost speed. This General and the Prince of Vaudemont use all their Diligence to make the necessary Dispositions for opening the Campaign early. But we hear the Duke of Savoy and Count Staremberg are no less diligent in making Preparations on their side. Our last Advices from Rome tell us, that the Pope has made a Present of a considerable Sum of Money to the Duke of Modena, and has likewise granted him some Troops to garrison a Castle that remains still in his hands in the Grasagnan. The Discourse is renew'd that the Queen Dowager of Spain will shortly come from Toledo to Rome and take up her Residence there.

Vienna, March 15. Prince Ragotski, with the Body of Rebels he Commands, is encamp'd before Erla in the upper Hungary: Count Caroli is about Eisenstad where he has receiv'd a Reinforcement of 1000 Men, and tis said he designs to attack the Castle of Petronel which begins to want Provisions. Mean time the Body of Troops commanded by General Heister receives daily Reinforcements near Ebenfurt. They write from great Waradin, that a Party of the Garrison of that Place, having surpriz'd a Party of the Rebels in Tellee, kill'd 50 of them, took 30 Prisoners, put the rest to flight, and drove many of them into the River where they were drown'd, and afterwards plunder'd Tellee; And then return'd into Great Waradin, carrying with them a great Booty in Cattle and other things. 'Tis said the King of France made great Offers to the King of Prussia to engage him to stand Neuter, but that his Prussian Majesty generously refus'd them, and will certainly send between 20 and 25000 Men to act separately the ensuing Campaign against the Elector of Bavaria. 'Tis currently reported, that the King of the Romans will command the Army of the Empire this Summer. We expect with great Impatience the Answer of Prince Ragotski and the other principal Leaders of the Rebels, to the Proposals for an Accommodation between them and the Rebels, made to Count Berezeni by Monsieur Hamel Bruyninx the Envoy of Holland; Mean time the Preparations for War are carried on vigorously on both sides: The Count of Volkra, who return'd lately from Italy, where he had been employ'd as a Minister from the Emperor in the Courts of several Potentates of that Country, has rendred his Imperial Majesty an Account of his Negotiations. The Prince of Neuburg, Bishop of Ausburg, is gone from hence to return into Stiria.
